Statistical Consulting

We offer you statistical consulting advice and, through our own resources or in concert with others, we should be able to handle most of your needs.

In particular, we can help you to:

- Design efficient studies before collecting your data;
- Devise an effective plan for analyzing your data;
- Familiarize yourself with the statistical techniques suitable for analyzing your data;
- Choose the most appropriate software for analyzing your data and learn how to use it to accomplish your data analysis goals;
- Interpret and report the findings of your data analysis.
